開展台灣政治與國際地位的新局

Dear NATPA members and friends,

It is our great pleasure to invite you to 2017 NATPA Annual Conference at Chicago from August 4 to August 7.¹ This is NATPA's most exciting event of the year, where we welcome new members, cheer our friendship, and enjoy many other social events. The conference theme of this year is set to "Explore Taiwan's new opportunities and challenges" to reflect the dynamics created by the new Trump administration, particularly, the unprecedented phone call between then President-elect Trump and President Tsai. The programming committee invites many world leading experts as our keynote speakers to address the challenges in turning the decades-old US-Taiwan-China relations to a new chapter. The conference facilitates opportunities for our members and friends to discuss with our guests and impress them with our views for better US-Taiwan relations. Due to space constraints, we list a few for your reference.²
